SECTION 1.0 – INTRODUCTION

1.1 Scope and Purpose

The Personnel Policy and Procedures Manual is a reference guide for staff and management to ensure understanding of the KDFN Government's philosophy and approach to the human resource management. The Personnel Policy and Procedure Manual applies to all KDFN employees.

Policies and procedures protect the rights of all employees, and ensure that everyone is treated equally, consistently and fairly - collectively, the policies speak to the kind of workplace we have at KDFN, and how we treat our valued employees.

Each policy is designed to provide staff and management with the information they need to understand KDFN's approach to various human resources issues. A policy will typically contain information about its purpose, how it affects staff, and the roles and responsibilities of everyone (Human Resources, managers, directors, staff) in working within it.

The policies detail KDFN's position on and approach to a particular human resources issue. These positions are based on Canadian labour law and generally accepted practices standard in most Canadian workplaces. A procedure talks speaks to how a particular policy will be implemented.

1.2 Development and Approval

In accordance with the Constitution, every policy and procedure is approved by Council. Normally this is done based on options recommendations provided by the Executive Director and Human Resources.

1.3 Amendment

Where a conflict is identified between the Personnel Policy and Procedures and a law of KDFN, the law will prevail. The Canadian Human Rights Code takes precedent over all KDFN statutes and policies.

The Personnel Policy and Procedures is in compliance with the Canada Labour Code and Canada Labour Standards Regulations, identifying legal requirements. Changes to the Canada Labour Code that result in making any portion of the KDFN's policies non-compliant, KDFN will abide by the provisions of the Canada Labour Code until the Personnel Policy and Procedures have been amended.

Policies and procedures will, at times, require changes or additions to be made to better reflect the needs of KDFN. Policy is a guideline, and is not intended to address every possible situation.

1.5 Dispute Resolution

The Personnel Policy and Procedures will be clear and binding until revised. In cases of disputes, the supervisor is the first, department director is the second and the Human Resources Manager is the third and final level of interpreters of the provisions contained in this manual unless a provision is derived from a law other than a law enacted by KDFN. In cases where the dispute has not be satisfactorily resolved through the steps outlined, an appeal may be made to the Judicial Council.

4.1 Hiring Preference

Scope: All hiring competitions

Purpose: Provide employment opportunities for citizens and members of the Kwanlin Dün

Policy: Without regard to sex, marital status, religion, age or people living with disabilities, KDFN will give preferences when hiring:

KDFN citizens/members and their immediate family members

Procedure: The hiring preference will be applied in the following manner:

1. Upon the closing date of posted competitions, the list of candidates will be reviewed against the list of KDFN members/beneficiaries. It is critical that KDFN applicants and immediate family of KDFN applicants self-declare their eligibility for consideration under the preference policy;
2. KDFN applicants or members of their immediate family will be screened first to determine qualifications against established criteria.
3. If one or more KDFN applicants have the required qualifications, the competition will proceed to interviews.
4. In the event that no KDFN applicant possesses the qualifications determined essential, a review and assessment will be undertaken to determine if any of the KDFN applicants have sufficient qualifications to be considered for an underfill or developmental position to acquire the necessary skills to perform job functions at the full working level; and
5. If there are no KDFN applicants or KDFN applicants with a level of qualifications deemed essential, the recruitment process will proceed without the application of preference to any candidate.
6. Every effort will be made to staff casual, auxiliary and entry level positions with KDFN citizens/members. When those efforts are not successful, the HR Unit will advise the Executive Director, provide options and recommendations for resolution.

SECTION 4.0 – HIRING

4.2 Hiring Authority

- Scope: All hiring competitions
- Purpose: Establish required authorization for all new hires
- Policy: Establish the authorities and parameters for hiring employees.
- Procedure: Before any hiring proceeds, there will be sufficient money in the budget to cover wages, benefits and other costs associated with the position.

Directors have the right to participate, as part of the selection committee, in the evaluation and selection of the most meritorious candidate for vacant positions within their departments, new positions that have been identified in the budget, and positions that have been created and funded from outside funding sources.

The Executive Director, or designate, is expected to participate, as part of the selection committee, for vacant department director positions or when new director positions have been identified in the budget. Where possible, Director positions will be hired on a term basis to allow for mentorship and potential promotion for KDFN employees into senior positions.

If funding for a position has not been identified in a budget, the department director responsible will obtain approval for a budget increase before any hiring can take place.

Any hiring, promotions and transfers will be done in accordance with section 4.0.

Department directors, or their designates, are responsible for the completion of staffing requisitions, including verification of available funds, position details, suggested or preferred recruitment method and forwarding completed requisitions to Human Resources to initiate the hiring process.

Prior to proceeding to general recruitment, department directors are responsible for reviewing and assessing the responsibilities assigned to the vacant position to determine if modifications to the existing job description are required and ensuring changes are made before the vacancy is posted.

Prior to proceeding to general recruitment, department directors are responsible for reviewing the job responsibilities assigned to identify potential opportunities for mentorship, on-the-job training, temporary assignments, cross-training and/or under fill options for KDFN citizens.

SECTION 4.0 – HIRING

4.3 Hiring of Relatives

- Scope: All hires, transfers, promotions and demotions.
- Purpose: Minimize conflicts that may arise from hiring relatives.
- Policy: KDFN will not hire immediate family members of employees into any department that would require a direct reporting relationship with another family member.
- Procedure: Employees who become married to other employees, or enter into a common-law relationship with another employee, are permitted to continue their employment. If the relationship results in a direct reporting relationship, other reporting arrangements will be made for the duration of that individual's employment. Should one of them leave their position, this policy section will apply to any transfer, promotion, demotion or re-hiring.

For greater certainty, in the event that an employee marries or enters into a common-law relationship with another employee, the relationship places them in conflict with this policy section, and other acceptable arrangements cannot be made, the matter will be referred to the Personnel Appeals Committee for resolution.

KDFN recognizes that because of the value of extended family relationships among citizens, implementation of this policy section will require good judgment and discretion on the part of the Selection Committee. In particular, extended family relationships that mirror immediate family relationships should also be considered under this policy section.

“Immediate family” means immediate family consistent with policy section 2.1 Definitions.

SECTION 4.0 – HIRING

4.4 Hiring Practices

Scope: All hiring competitions

Purpose: Establish general hiring practices

Policy: KDFN will establish hiring practices that are consistent and equitably applied for all competitions/applicants and that meet the goals and objectives of the KDFN Government and is consistent with best human resources practices and human rights legislation.

Procedure: 1. Employment Equity

Except for the provisions pursuant to policy section 4.1 Hiring Preference, KDFN hiring practices will operate on non-discriminatory principles. Specifically, employment opportunities will be open to all applicants based on their knowledge, skills, abilities and personal suitability.

The Council may direct that additional preference be given to a group protected under human rights legislation, such as women, visible minorities or people with disabilities, provided said disability does not prevent or interfere with an individual's ability to perform the full scope of a position's job requirements. This direction may be applied to a specified employment competition or for a specified period of time.

2. Recruitment

Every effort will be made to post employment opportunities in locations that all citizens and members of the community have reasonable access to. KDFN may use additional methods of recruitment as is considered necessary to ensure that there is an adequate pool of candidates.

In keeping with the Policy 4.10 Promotions, Transfers, Temporary Assignments, and Demotions, employment competitions may be posted internally for a period of one week prior to going out to general competition.

Employment competitions that are open to citizens and the general public will be posted for a minimum of one week (five working days).

Eligibility lists may be established from competitions for positions that may arise in the future. If an eligibility list is going to be established for a position, a notice of that fact will be included in the job posting, and said eligibility list will be in effect for the period of one year from the date of creation. Eligibility lists identify qualified candidates who have been through a competitive process, in order of placement. In the event that an identical position becomes vacant during the eligibility period, a direct appointment can be made without competition, subject to satisfactory reference checks.

A competition can be held specifically to establish eligibility lists for positions subject to high turnover (e.g. custodial workers, adult care workers).

- Procedure: In addition to the orientation package, supervisors will use a pre-approved checklist of orientation criteria provided by Human Resources. The checklist, containing department specific criteria, will be completed and signed by the supervisor and the new employee.

The orientation will include, but is not limited to:

- a) introduction to co-workers and key contacts;
- b) tour of the KDFN offices;

SECTION 5.0 – EMPLOYMENT CATEGORIES AND CONDITIONS

5.1 Employment Categories

- Scope: All employees
- Purpose: Establish consistent categories of employment
- Policy: All positions will fall under one of the identified employment categories.
- Procedure: Employment categories will be clearly stated in letters of offer of employment.

Changes in employment categories will be clearly stated in revised letters of offer of employment.

All positions will fall under one of the following employment categories:

1. Regular Employees

Regular employees are hired on an indeterminate basis and work regular hours, either full-time or part-time.

2. Term Employees

Term employees are hired with a fixed end-date. The duration of term positions must be a minimum of six months or longer from the date of hire. Term employees work regular hours, either full-time or part-time.

Employees in casual positions who have their work terms extended to one year or more from the date of hire without a break in service will be reclassified to a term employee retroactively to their start date and will qualify for the KDFN benefit package without a waiting period.

3. Casual Employees

Casual employees are hired with a fixed end date that is less than six months from the date of hire.

Casual positions are created to fill a specific need for a short period of time.

4. Auxiliary-on-Call Employees

Auxiliary/On-Call employees are hired to meet a need that is sporadic in nature with no guarantee of hours (e.g. replacing regular staff during absences; assisting during peak work periods). Auxiliary on-call status/need will be reviewed on an annual basis. The review will not result in automatic renewal.

GOVERNMENT OF THE KWANLIN DÜN FIRST NATION PERSONNEL POLICY AND PROCEDURES MANUAL

5.1 Employment Categories continued

The hours worked by Auxiliary-on-call employees are monitored by Human Resources to ensure the use of said support positions is not abused. In the case of excessive use of auxiliary personnel, Human Resources will address the issue with the appropriate department director. If necessary, the director will be required to address the need through a more appropriate employment category.

5. Student/Training Positions

Student/training positions are normally staffed through specific employment programs and are governed by the terms of the funder. Other training or underfill positions are staffed for a term coinciding with the length of the approved training plan.

5.2 Probationary Periods

Scope: All employees

Purpose: Establish a probationary period to determine the employee's suitability for employment.

Policy: All new employees will be required to serve a probationary period.

Procedure: 1. Executive Director and Senior Management

The Executive Director, department directors (level 9) and senior managers (level 8) will serve a probationary period of six months, which can be extended for a further period of time not to exceed an additional six months. The decision to extend the probationary period for department directors and senior managers rests with the Executive Director or in the case of some managers, the department director. In the case of the Executive Director, the decision to extend the probationary period is made by Council

During a probationary period, the Executive Director, Executive Council Officer or a department director may be dismissed without notice if they fail to meet acceptable standards of performance or conduct.

Before the end of the probationary period, a performance evaluation will be conducted.

2. All other Employees

New employees, or employees hired into a new position, will serve a probationary period of six continuous months, which may be extended for a further period of time not to exceed an additional three months.

During a probationary period, an employee may be dismissed without notice if they fail to meet acceptable standards of performance or conduct.

Before the end of an employee's probationary period a performance evaluation will be conducted.

The purpose of a probationary period is to assess an employee's suitability for employment. Factors to be considered include work performance, attitude, attendance, compliance and interaction with co-workers and citizens.

5.3 Probationary Periods continued

In cases where an employee is absent from the workplace for a period in excess of 30 days during the probationary period, probation will be extended for a period of time equal to the absence.

Despite the fact that an employee can be dismissed without cause or notice during their probationary period, all performance and conduct issues will be documented and kept on the employee's staff relations file.

5.3 Underfill/Training Positions

Scope: All employment competitions

Purpose: Promote employment and provide training opportunities to citizens and employees

Policy: KDFN may fill a position with a candidate who does not possess the minimum qualification requirements with the ultimate goal of providing training to address shortfalls and result in having a fully qualified regular employee within a specified period of time.

Offers of underfill positions will only be considered where there are sufficient resources to deliver appropriate training, mentorship and support to the incumbent over the specified period to achieve desired results.

Procedure: The Human Resources Manager, with the support of the Executive Director, can identify potential under fill opportunities to a department director providing that:

- a) underfill opportunities are advertised in accordance with the policy requirements in Section 4 Hiring;
- b) underfill positions have a training plan developed prior to the date of hire;
- c) the training plan is developed specific to the needs of the incumbent to achieve the full working level of the position within a set timeframe not to exceed 24 months; and
- d) a trainer or mentor is identified to deliver the training required to assist the employee in achieving the full qualifications for the position

Employees in under fill positions will be paid according to the percentage of job qualifications they possess. For example, an incumbent with the minimum 80 per cent of qualifications will be paid an equal percentage of the starting wage.

5.4 Acting Pay

Scope: All employees

Purpose: Ensure that all required duties are carried out in a timely manner during employees' absences. Promote advancement for employees.

Policy: The Executive Director will appoint employees to act in senior positions during periods of absence.

Procedure: 1. Acting Assignments

The Human Resource Department will be notified in writing of acting assignments (completion of acting pay form). If the acting assignment is long enough to require acting pay, Human Resources will ensure a copy of the acting pay form is provided to the Payroll department.

Absences of any length may require an acting assignment, but acting assignments may not be necessary for all absences.

Department directors and managers may recommend, to the Executive Director, an employee to act in their position during their absence or unavailability. When determining the employee to appoint to an acting assignment, the following should be taken into consideration:

- a) knowledge, skills and abilities of the employee;
- b) interest expressed by the employee; and
- c) succession plans, professional development, etc.

It is recommended that only one employee be appointed during a period of absence.

2. Special Acting Assignments

Situations may arise, from time to time, where an employee is required to take on additional duties that warrant further compensation. The additional duties may be a temporary requirement or represent a portion of duties assigned to another position.

Department directors and managers may recommend, to the Executive Director, that the additional duties assignment to an employee be evaluated and classified to determine if additional compensation is warranted.

6.1 Hours of Work

- Scope: All employees
- Purpose: Establish and standardize hours of work
- Policy: KDFN will establish regular hours of work in accordance with operational requirements and the Canada Labour Code
- Procedure: 1. Normal Work Day Hours and Breaks

The normal working day is 7 hours, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., from Monday to Friday with two paid 15 minute breaks, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The normal work week is 35 hours.

Employees may take their 15 minute breaks in increments, but the total time taken will not exceed 30 minutes.

Taking breaks during the day is important to keep employees fresh and productive. Supervisors will encourage all employees to take their breaks as scheduled. If employees are abusing their allotted breaks, disciplinary action may be taken.

It is not acceptable for employees to voluntarily skip their allowed breaks in order to shorten the work day.

2. Flexible Work Arrangements

Employees may make alternative arrangements with their department directors or supervisors. Subject to operational requirements, and with the understanding that services must be available during core business hours, employees within a department or work unit may request consideration for alternate work arrangements. For example, two employees providing the same service may request staggered shifts or a compressed work week with alternate days off.

Operational requirements include KDFN delivery of essential services, facilities or activities that are or will be, at any time, necessary for the safety, security or benefit of the public or a segment of the public.

Employees who deliver KDFN essential services will not be eligible for alternative arrangements for hours of work.

GOVERNMENT OF THE KWANLIN DÜN FIRST NATION PERSONNEL POLICY AND PROCEDURES MANUAL

- d) Social Assistance (emergency services)
- e) Community Services (water delivery / no heat calls)
- f) Occasional Special Events (employees required to work over lunch)

and other essential services that may be delivered by KDFN from time to time.

Where an employee is required to work over the lunch period between 12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m., as directed or approved by their supervisor, every effort will be made to re-schedule their lunch period to an alternative time within that same work day, such as 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon, or 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m.

6.2 Attendance, Punctuality and Unauthorized Leave

- Scope: All employees
- Purpose: Establish a professional workplace, maintain a productive work environment and ensure that employees are compensated for hours worked.
- Policy: Chronic and unauthorized absences and lateness will not be tolerated.
- Procedure: 1. Attendance

Attendance will be recorded employees on a time sheet or, in the case of regular and term employees, absences will be recorded on the appropriate leave form, which must be submitted on a bi-weekly basis. The immediate supervisor must review the time sheet or leave form and sign as authorizing payment for recorded hours worked and leave taken.

During working hours, no employee will leave their work premises without notifying their supervisor. Unauthorized departures will be noted and pay will be deducted for the time spent away from work.

Any employee who fails to record their attendance or leave may be denied payment of salary for the work period that is incorrectly recorded. Any employee who fails to submit a time sheet or leave form by the establish payroll cut-off may be denied payment until the following pay period.

An employee who knowingly falsifies their attendance record or leave form, which constitutes a breach of trust, will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

2. Punctuality

Unless agreed to in advance with the supervisor for legitimate reasons such as childcare, lateness will not be tolerated.

Repeated violations of this policy will result in disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

3. Unauthorized Leave

Legitimate leave becomes unauthorized leave unless approved in advance with the exception of sick leave. Unauthorized leave disqualifies the employee for any entitlement to pay or leave benefits.

GOVERNMENT OF THE KWANLIN DÜN FIRST NATION PERSONNEL POLICY AND PROCEDURES MANUAL

SECTION 6.0 – WORKING CONDITIONS

6.2 Attendance, Punctuality and Unauthorized Leave continued

Employees who are absent from duty without leave will notify their supervisor of the reason for the absence within the first two hours of their regularly scheduled shift. Failure to do so may result in loss of pay and possibly disciplinary action.

Should an employee be absent from duty for a period of three days or more without authorization (except for reasons considered by the Executive Director to be beyond the employee's control), the department director or a duly authorized person must notify the Human Resources Manager in writing that the employee appears to have abandoned their position.

Before determining that the employee has abandoned their position, the Human Resources Manager will make every reasonable effort to determine the reason for the employee's absence and whether they intend to return to work. All efforts made to contact an employee must be documented.

The declaration that an employee has abandoned their position will contain all relevant information, including all efforts made to contact the employee, and a statement of the period of time they were absent from work without authorization.

SECTION 6.0 – WORKING CONDITIONS

6.3 Health and Safety

Scope: All employees

Purpose: Ensure the health and safety of employees in the course of their employment.

Policy: KDFN takes its obligations for health and safety as prescribed in the Canada Labour Code seriously and expects employees to fulfill their obligations and assist and cooperate in ensuring the health and safety of their co-workers.

Supervisors and managers receiving employee complaints about health and safety will work to resolve complaints as soon as possible, in consultation with the Occupational Health and Safety Specialist.

Procedure: 1. Health and Safety Committees and Representatives

The Canada Labour Code requires that for all workplaces with 20 or more employees there will be a Health and Safety Committee consisting of one non-managerial employee selected by non-managerial employees at that workplace and one employee selected by the Executive Director. For all other workplaces controlled by KDFN, there will be a non-managerial employee selected by the non-managerial employees at that workplace to be the Health and Safety representative. Meetings will be chaired by the Occupational Health and Safety Specialist.

In consultation with the Occupational Health & Safety Specialist, the duties of Health and Safety Committees and representatives are prescribed by the Canada Labour Code and include:

- a) receiving, considering and dealing with complaints related to health and safety;
- b) keeping detailed records of complaints, the manner in which they were resolved and ensuring the effective documentation and storage of safety records;
- c) developing, establishing and maintaining programs, measures and procedures for the protection or improvement of health and safety throughout the organization; and
- d) providing opportunities, such as training, workshops, events, etc. to increase the physical and mental health of employees.

2. Yukon Workers Compensation Act

All employees are covered by YWCHSB. Employees who suffer a work related injury or disability must report that injury or disability to their supervisor as soon as practical. Injured employees and their supervisors will make all required reports to and comply with the direction of the YWCHSB.

Employer reports must be submitted to the YWCHSB within three days of the injury or disability being brought to the attention of the supervisor.

Return to work from a work related injury or illness requires that a return to work plan be prepared in consultation with the employee's physician, the YWCHSB and following the Workers Compensation Act (Yukon).

The form and content of all reports are governed by the Workers Compensation Act (Yukon) and the YWCHSB.

3. Scent Free Workplace

Employees with allergies or sensitivities to perfumed and other scented products are protected under the Occupational Health and Safety Act. KDFN employees should refrain from using scented products that may impact the health of others.

4. Smoke Free Workplace

In compliance with the Smoke Free Places Act (Yukon), smokers outside KDFN workplaces will stay 5 metres away from doorways, air intakes and open windows.

5. Benefits

Employees' pension, extended health and disability plans will continue during their leave due to work related injury or illness. The employee may be required to pay their share of premiums for benefit plans depending on the length of the absence.

SECTION 6.0 – WORKING CONDITIONS

6.4 Substance Use

Scope: All employees

Purpose:

1. Ensure the health and safety of employees and the general public by providing a work environment free of substance use.
2. Define the level of assistance available to employees with substance use issues.

Policy: KDFN has zero tolerance for substance use in the workplace. KDFN recognizes alcoholism and drug dependency as chronic illnesses that interfere with job performance. Dealing with substance use is the responsibility of KDFN management and employees.

Definitions: In this policy:

“substance use” means the use of drugs, legal and illicit, and alcohol; and

“undue hardship” means that undue hardship to KDFN occurs when accommodating the needs of an employee with substance use issues would alter the quality of the public service KDFN provides to its citizens, substantially affect the fiscal viability of KDFN or produce a substantive health and safety risk that outweighs the benefits of accommodating that employee. Undue hardship may also occur when an employee continues to repeatedly relapse despite participating in KDFN-supported rehabilitation programs.

Procedure: Identification of an employee’s substance use issues will be based upon evidence of unsatisfactory job performance, chronic absenteeism, near misses and other indicators and only become a concern to KDFN when it interferes with their job performance, or represents a health or safety risk for the employee, co-workers or the general public.

Notwithstanding the above, no employee will be allowed to work while under the influence of alcohol or drugs and any violation of this policy may lead to disciplinary action or termination.

KDFN acknowledges that as an employer it has a duty to accommodate employees with substance use issues, including individualized or personalized accommodation measures.

Substance use issues will not result in automatic loss of employment or reassignment or impose inflexible reinstatement conditions without regard for personal circumstances. Reassignment, however, may be a condition imposed if it is determined that being substance free is a bona fide occupational requirement for a particular position.

6.4 Substance Use continued

In cases where the employee is not prepared to participate in a meaningful way in any of the accommodation processes or measures offered, KDFN may have reason to establish undue hardship. KDFN expects that, at some point, the employee must take responsibility for their own behaviour, especially if it is related to substance use issues.

1. Alcohol and Drug Testing

KDFN respects every employee's human and privacy rights and therefore will not subject employees to random testing.

KDFN should concentrate on observable performance problems rather than attempt to diagnose a definite substance use issue. If these performance problems are determined to be alcohol or drug related, the employee should be encouraged to undertake assessment and treatment regardless of what, if any, disciplinary action, except for discharge, is initiated. An employee in this situation will be provided with a variety of treatment options and assistance on a case by case basis.

KDFN may identify positions in which the use of alcohol or drugs would pose a significant safety risk to the employee, co-workers and/or the general public. If it is determined that being substance free is a bona fide occupational requirement of a position, KDFN may require an employee to undergo alcohol and drug testing. Refusal to be tested or to be and remain substance free is grounds for disciplinary action or dismissal.

In the limited circumstances where testing is justified, employees who test positive and are determined to be dependent on alcohol or drugs, must be accommodated to the point of undue hardship.

For those positions in which alcohol or drug testing is required, KDFN will identify who will conduct the drug testing and the nature of the test. The results of tests will be disclosed only to those employees entitled to review an employee's personnel file.

Before initiating any action, supervisors must be certain of the facts surrounding the situation and consult with Human Resources.

2. Duty to Accommodate

GOVERNMENT OF THE KWANLIN DÜN FIRST NATION PERSONNEL POLICY AND PROCEDURES MANUAL

The extent to which KDFN is required to accommodate an employee with substance use issues depends on a variety of factors, including:

6.4 Substance Use continued

- health and safety concerns
- past efforts to accommodate
- the response to previous treatment or corrective programs and prognosis
- the nature of and seriousness of the violation
- the costs and other impacts of the required accommodation
- the size of the KDFN operation
- the availability of other, non-safety sensitive positions

In most cases, KDFN should refer employees to a substance use professional to determine whether, in fact, they are alcohol or drug dependent. If they are dependent, KDFN should accommodate them by providing the necessary support to permit them to undergo treatment or a rehabilitation program. KDFN may be justified in temporarily removing an employee who is an active user or has a recent history of substance use issues from a safety-sensitive position.

Once the employee has successfully completed a rehabilitation program, they should be returned to their position. Follow-up testing, conducted at reasonable intervals, may be a condition of continued employment where safety is of fundamental importance. If follow-up testing reveals continuing substance use, further action by KDFN, up to dismissal, may be justified. However, given the nature of alcohol and drug dependence, there is a significant risk of relapse. In some circumstances, KDFN may be expected to accommodate, to the point of undue hardship, those employees who continue to inappropriately use alcohol or drugs.

If a substance use professional determines that an employee is not dependent on alcohol or drugs, the employee should be returned to their position.

There are limits on KDFN's duty to accommodate, especially where an employee deliberately misleads KDFN. Denial of the extent of alcohol or drug use is often a symptom of addiction. However, accommodation is contingent on an employee's responsibility to take matters into their own hands and ask for help as accommodation is a multi-party inquiry that requires the employee's active participation. An employee's failure to disclose a disability may negate the duty to accommodate, particularly where the employee repeatedly denies using alcohol or drugs.

6.4 Substance Use continued

If KDFN has reasonable cause to believe that an employee is using alcohol or drugs, or when an employee tests positive, and the employee refuses to acknowledge their use of alcohol or drugs or seeks treatment, this fact does not in and of itself constitute undue hardship and does not justify immediate dismissal. Before terminating an employee, KDFN has to demonstrate that it has warned the employee through progressive discipline, and that the employee is unable to perform the essential requirements of the position.

Employees who chose not to address their substance use issues will be disciplined and may be dismissed if substance use continues to impact their work.

It should be noted that prescribed drugs (whether taken for the reason they were prescribed for or not) can have the same effect on individuals as illicit drugs. An employee who takes a prescribed drug is required to supply KDFN with a doctor's note to that extent.

Illicit drugs confiscated on KDFN property will be turned over to local law enforcement authorities.

6.5 Harassment and Discrimination

Scope: All employees

Purpose:

1. Provide a work environment that is free from both harassment and discrimination and where employees are treated with dignity and respect.
2. Provide a fair and equitable means of achieving the resolution of harassment and/or discrimination based conflicts among and/or between employees,
3. This policy also creates awareness of legal requirements and the process for resolving incidents.

Policy: KDFN will promote a positive and professional environment where all employees and elected or appointed officials are entitled to a workplace and working conditions that are free of harassment and discrimination. Any behaviour that denies any person their dignity and is offensive, embarrassing or humiliating will not be tolerated. Intentional harassment is against the law and is a major violation of KDFN policy.

KDFN will investigate all cases of alleged harassment and/or discrimination complaints and will provide an effective remedy when an allegation is determined to be valid. All complaints of, and investigations into, harassment and/or discrimination will be held in the strictest of confidence amongst the parties.

For greater certainty, nothing in this policy section will limit or otherwise preclude any employee access to any of their rights under any of the laws of KDFN or the Government of Canada, which includes the Canada Human Rights Act and the Canada Occupational Health and Safety Regulations.

Definitions: In this policy section:

“abuse of authority” means any act, behaviour or practice carried out by a person with authority, such as an elected or appointed official, a manager, supervisor, or department director who uses their vested authority with its implicit power to undermine, sabotage or otherwise interfere with the career of an employee. This includes humiliation, intimidation, threats and coercion and is not part of any normal management activities, such as performance reviews or progressive discipline. For greater certainty, abuse of authority constitutes another form of personal harassment;

“complainant” means a person who reports an alleged instance of harassment or discrimination;

6.5 Harassment and Discrimination continued

“complaint” means an allegation of harassment or discrimination made in good faith, either formally or informally, to the Human Resources Manager, the Executive Director, department director, manager or supervisor or other appropriate elected or appointed official in accordance with this policy;

“complaint in bad faith” means an allegation of harassment or discrimination made, either formally or informally, to the Human Resources Manager, the Executive Director, department director, manager or supervisor or other appropriate elected or appointed official in accordance with this policy section that is known by the complainant to be false;

“discrimination” means any act, behaviour or practice, intentional or unintentional, that has either the purpose or effect of imposing burdens, obligations, disadvantages or preferences only on individuals or groups based on race, colour, place of origin, ethnic or linguistic background, ancestry, gender, age, marital or family status, religious beliefs or activity, mental and physical disability, political belief or activity or sexual orientation;

“harassment” means any act, behaviour or practice that demeans, humiliates or embarrasses a person. It is any behaviour that a reasonable person should have known would be unwelcome. It includes actions, comments or displays. It may be a single incident or continue over time.

Harassment is a lack of respect. When done responsibly, progressive discipline and proper supervision does not constitute harassment. An employee can challenge such a discipline or supervision in accordance with policy section 7.3, Dispute and Complaint Resolution. For greater certainty, harassment includes personal harassment and sexual harassment;

“personal harassment”, means any objectionable or otherwise unwelcome conduct or comment directed towards a specific person or group. It serves no legitimate work purpose and has the effect of creating a hostile or offensive work environment.

Personal harassment is also known as bullying and is abusive and demeaning. By a reasonable standard, it causes insecurity, discomfort, offence or humiliation to that person or group. Personal harassment has the purpose or effect of interfering with a person’s work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment. It includes, but is not limited to, the following:

Purpose: This policy section does not cover every acceptable and unacceptable scenario. They draw on common sense and basic public service principles for authorized users and supervisors to determine appropriate computer use activities in the work place.

This policy section applies to all departments, including employees, contractors, appointees, trainees and other personnel using KDFN computers and electronic networks during normal working hours and all other times.

This policy section applies to all authorized users who access computer resources and services from KDFN computers and networks. They also cover authorized users while they are using their own equipment (including home computers), or equipment belonging to a third party, to access the KDFN network for work purposes.

The nature of some specific KDFN job functions may require accessing information that would not conform to the guidelines (e.g. criminal investigations, law enforcement) and are therefore exempt.

1. Describe the key principles for the appropriate use of computers and electronic networks.
2. Define the roles and responsibilities of users, their supervisors, and other key stakeholders.
3. Provide examples of acceptable and unacceptable use.

Policy: 1. Computers and Electronic Networks

Most people use these assets in a responsible manner. As with any innovative tool, however, there is the possibility that it can also be used in a manner for which it was not intended. People who are authorized to use these resources will not hinder the productivity or job performance of employees, damage the ethical and professional behaviour of the KDFN service, impair the security and integrity of the KDFN's information holdings and network resources or jeopardize the legal position of the KDFN.

2. Principles of Use for Computers and Electronic Networks

The following principles will help authorized users determine what appropriate use of computer resources is. Principles of Use for Computers, lists examples, but the underlying premise is that any activity must be able to survive scrutiny through the public's eyes without bringing KDFN into disrepute.

Principle 1

Principle 3

Users are committed to upholding all legal and policy obligations. Authorized users are obligated to ensure that the use of computer resources does not violate the Criminal Code (Canada), other federal laws or regulations, Yukon laws, including the Human Rights Act (Yukon), or KDFN legal and regulatory measures.

In this electronic and information age, some incidental and occasional personal use of computer resources is permitted if the use is reasonable in duration and does not result in increased costs for KDFN and is consistent with these principles and this policy section. Personal or educational use of KDFN computers, e-mail and internet services will not negatively affect the professional image of KDFN, detract from the work duties and productivity of employees, or be used for private business operations or personal financial gain.

3. Privacy of Information

Authorized users need to be aware that they do not have a right of privacy in their use of electronic networks and corporate computers. ### SECTION 7.0 – PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT

7.1 Performance Evaluations

Scope: All employees

Purpose: KDFN is committed to building a skilled, knowledgeable, collaborative and respectful organization that thrives on innovation and quality customer service provided to Citizens. KDFN is also committed to supporting the growth and development of employees through effective performance management. The purpose of KDFN's performance management process is to align employee performance with KDFN's strategic plan, departmental goals and objectives, job descriptions and the KDFN Code of Conduct.

It is important that KDFN employees have an opportunity to work together with their supervisor to plan, monitor and review an employee's work objectives, employer expectations and overall contribution to the organization. This policy sets out the performance appraisal and performance plan process and guidelines for all KDFN employees.

Policy: KDFN employees are expected complete a performance appraisal and performance plan each year, prior to their anniversary date. Completed appraisals will be signed off by the employee, the supervisor and Human Resources, and will form the basis for eligibility for annual merit increases to an employee's salary.

Definitions: “anniversary date” The date in which an employee started work at KDFN. For employees hired between the 1st to the 15th of a month, the anniversary date will be the first of that month. For employees hired between the 16th to the end of the month, the anniversary date will be the first of the following month;

“Performance Management” A process by which managers and employees work together to plan, monitor and review an employee's work objectives, employer expectations and overall contribution to the organization. The main goal is to promote and improve employee effectiveness, and involves providing on-going coaching and feedback to ensure that employees are meeting their objectives and working towards career goals. At KDFN, this process is comprised of a cycle with three inter-related phases:

“Performance planning” The supervisor and employee establish performance expectations, goals and objectives in alignment with the level of the position.

SECTION 7.0 – PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT

7.1 Performance Evaluations continued

“performance assessment” The supervisor and employee complete an annual evaluations no less than 30 days prior to the employee’s anniversary date.

Procedure: Application

This policy applies to all KDFN staff (including part-time, casual and auxiliary employees). There is one form for employees and one for management.

Responsibility

It is the responsibility of each supervisor to ensure that employees have a performance appraisal and performance plan developed each year, in advance of respective anniversary dates.

Probationary Employees

Probationary employees will be required to complete an appraisal in advance of the completion of their probationary period. In the event that an employee’s probationary period is being extended, employees will be advised a minimum of 30 days in advance of the expected end date, provided with feedback as to improvement required, and new completion date. Following successful completion of the probationary period, the next performance appraisal will take place in advance of their anniversary date. In the event, due to an extension of the probationary period, the probationary appraisal is completed within 90 days of the employee anniversary date, the next appraisal will be completed in advance of the anniversary date in approximately one year’s time.

Absence of Supervisor

Typically, an appraisal is completed with the individual who supervised the employee over the previous year. Should that supervisor no longer be in that position, the employee’s current supervisor will complete the appraisal, provided they have supervised the employee for a minimum of six continuous months. If the former supervisor is available within KDFN, the current supervisor should seek their input. In some circumstances, the employee’s performance appraisal will be postponed until the new supervisor has sufficient time to adequately assess the employee’s performance. Ideally, supervisors will complete preliminary appraisals of all employees prior to their departure in order to provide the necessary feedback to the new supervisor.

7.1 Performance Evaluations continued

1. Human Resources will send an email to the employee and their supervisor 90 days prior to the employee's anniversary date, noting that an appraisal is required to be completed no later than 30 days in advance of the anniversary date. The email from Human Resources will contain the APPRAISAL form (one for employees, one for supervisors).
2. The employee will complete the APPRAISAL and email the form to their supervisor for review and to provide comments.
3. The supervisor will email the appraisal back to the employee with their comments included, and will schedule a meeting to discuss it. During the meeting, the employee and supervisor will discuss the draft evaluation, including all comments, including any areas of disagreement with respect to the employee's performance.

Following the meeting, both the employee and supervisor will sign and date the appraisal, and forward a hard copy to the Director of Human Resources. The completed appraisal must be provided to Human Resources no later than 21 days prior to the employee's anniversary date (see Merit Increases).

Merit Increases

Each employee may receive an annual merit increase (up to the maximum of their salary range) to recognize and reward good performance over the previous year. Increases will be applied automatically, unless the supervisor indicates on the appraisal in the space provided that the employee is not eligible for the merit increase. APPRAISALS are required to be completed and sent to Human Resources a minimum of 21 days prior to the employee's anniversary date to ensure the appropriate instruction is provided to the Department of Finance.

An employee and supervisor must, at the completion of the appraisal and performance development process, sign the appraisal. This is to acknowledge that both the employee and supervisor worked together to complete the appraisal, and that the employee's performance warranted - or did not warrant - a merit increase. In the rare case where an employee refuses to sign the appraisals, it will be forward to Human Resources and the Executive Director for resolution.

Rolls and Responsibilities

Employees: It is the responsibility of staff to complete an appraisal each year, including the identification of a development plan.

Exceptional Circumstances

In situations where the individual circumstances of a case are such that the provisions of this or any policy cannot be applied or to do so would result in an unfair or an unintended result, the Executive Director will decide the case based on its individual merits and justice. Such a decision will be considered for that specific case only and will not be precedent setting

SECTION 7.0 – PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT

7.2 Discipline

- Scope: All employees
- Purpose: Correct unsatisfactory performance or behaviour, promote a healthy positive climate of self-discipline and consistent and effective group standards, and ensure that employees are treated fairly and consistently.
- Policy: Employee misconduct or incompetence will be subject to progressive disciplinary action aimed at improving employee performance.
- Procedure: 1. Disciplinary Action

There are three general grounds for disciplinary action:

a) Incompetence

Incompetence occurs when an employee does not have the abilities or skills to perform the assigned duties and responsibilities associated with the position.

b) Negligence

Negligent employees may have the required skills but fail to perform at an acceptable or satisfactory level.

c) Misconduct

Misconduct means that policies have been ignored, such as irregular attendance, tardiness, poor attitude towards work or other employees, safety violations and insubordination, all of which may cause a direct or immediate impact on the service delivery, safety or negatively affect the attitudes of other employees, citizens or reputation of KDFN.

Employees are expected to be aware of and, where required as part of their work, understand the legal and regulatory measures enacted and approved by KDFN.

The attributes of discipline involve the provision of an initial warning and responding to concerns in an immediate and consistent manner. Concerns addressed must relate directly to the requirements of the workplace and should not be deemed as a personal attack. The ultimate goal is to correct the problem and retain the employee.

The objectives of disciplinary action will be positive in that they will be corrective and educational rather than negative and punishing.

7.2 Discipline continued

Disciplinary action will be consistent and fair and apply to everyone. In similar conditions and circumstances, consistent disciplinary action should be taken.

Generally, discipline will be progressive in nature, moving in steps from a minor reprimand for the first offence to discharge as the final action.

Some offenses are considered so serious that they are not dealt with by way of progressive discipline, (e.g. fighting, verbal or physical threats, theft, fraud, forgery, breach of confidentiality, breach of the public trust, serious safety violations that could lead to injury/death or significant financial loss). An employee who commits these offences or similar offences may be dismissed immediately. Employees who commit serious offences may also be suspended without pay, by the Executive Director, for a period of time commensurate with the nature of the offence.

Disciplinary documentation will be placed on an employee's personnel file in a sealed envelope. After two years without further disciplinary action, employees may request that disciplinary documentation be removed from their personnel file. This will allow the employee to have a clean employment record.

Supervisors, managers or departmental directors dealing with disciplinary issues must involve and work in cooperation with Human Resources prior to taking any action. Any and all documentation related to staff relations and/or disciplinary action will be maintained in Human Resources only where access is restricted and essential confidentiality can be assured.

Employees are entitled to dispute any disciplinary action through the process set out in policy section 7.3 Dispute and Complaint Resolution.

2. Steps – Progressive Disciplinary Process

Verbal Reprimand

A verbal reprimand is given to the employee followed by written confirmation to be placed on the employee's personnel file that documents a full accounting of the reprimand.

Written Reprimand

The written reprimand will be specific and:

7.2 Discipline continued

- a) include the date(s), time(s) and location(s) of incident(s);
- b) describe the nature of the undesirable performance or behaviour and how it relates to job and organizational performance;
- c) identify the section in the Personnel Policy and Procedures and/or Occupational Health & Safety Manual that relate to the incident(s);
- d) document any and all discussion and information related to the incident(s), including employee and supervisor responses, and where possible including specific words and actions; and
- e) identify, if any, witnesses to the incident

Suspension

In the event that an employee fails to respond to previous measures taken to improve job performance or conduct, the next step in the disciplinary process should be a suspension without pay. The length of suspension will be commensurate with the seriousness of the infraction. Suspensions can range from one day to a maximum of 10 working days. As with every step in the progressive disciplinary process, clear documentation is to be provided to support the action taken as a final attempt to correct incompetence, negligence or misconduct.

Dismissal (Discharge) for Cause

Dismissal should be considered only where an employee fails to respond to all previous measures taken to improve their job performance or conduct.

Personnel files will contain well-documented records of disciplinary history and performance evaluations of employees, including comments of supervisors, a record of disciplinary action taken, the remedial efforts made by an employee and correspondence between supervisor and the employee with regard to work performance and misconduct.

The Executive Director will review all disciplinary action taken up to this step before initiating a dismissal.

In the case of a discharge, a termination letter will be given to the employee signed by the Executive Director. A termination letter for the Executive Director will be signed by the Chief.

All documentation will be recorded promptly, objectively, and based on observations and not impressions. This notification will be sent to the employee and a copy placed in their personnel file.
